The Celebrated Indian Doctor,

JOS. SAUKABASIN,

Who is considered by all of the most intelligent of the tribes who composed the Penobscot Nation, as the most scientific and learned physician of this country, and having by unceasing efforts of over fifteen years experience gained a knowledge of the most perfect combination of the vegetable productions which are the growth and natural remedies for all diseases of the climate, offers his services to all disorders. He has in his possession numerous certificates testifying to the wonderful and beneficial and even sudden effects of his medicines. From a very large number of certificates he selects the following:

Brewer, July 8, 1852.

At the time my concern—The well certificate I had given, attacks the Rheumatism in my limbs. I tried many remedies without success, when I applied to Dr. JOSEPH SAUKABASIN, the Penobscot Indian who kindly and very short time had me entirely well. I therefore cheerfully recommend him as a skilful physician. BENJAMIN SNOW.

This will certify that I was afflicted for over thirty years with a Scrofulous humor in my legs and I applied to Dr. JOSEPH SAUKABASIN and he gave me one bottle of medicine which entirely cured me. I have not had the least trouble since. My daughter Hannah was troubled with a bad cough and spitting of blood, and it took her over one year to cure. SYLVANUS COOMBS.

Dr. Saukabasin—Dear Sir—I feel gratified to give you my best thanks for curing me with your medicine, as I was dying—a dropsical complaint—and I believe if I had been for your medicine she now would have been living. ANDREW L. PINKHAM.

Brewer, Dec 3 1852.

December 7th 1852—I feel perfectly satisfied that Dr. Joseph Saucatasin has cured my boy (a fever sore) when all other doctors gave him up. NATHAN DYER.

If any one calls himself in Brewer above the Toll House where he may be consulted by mail or otherwise, and will be frequently. Bangor Dec 11 1aw2m

The Maiden's Choice

A young man sat by her cottage tree,
A beauteous maid at the dawn of day
Her sewing, fell slightly from her knee—
For her heart and her thoughts were far away
When a sister [illegible] came to her
And [illegible] were coming there
Burgundy and Art and Poetry—
And [illegible] and Love—
Oh any thing at all from [illegible]
And the ugly old face—yet [illegible]

The wooer he gave her a wistful look—
And sighed [illegible]
While the very [illegible]
And played with her [illegible]
He pressed her hand and he bended his knee
And he begged and implored her to fix the time
He asked my mother—and she—
Oh, fix it yourself my darling, said he—
No—go and ask my mother, sir she

Scarce into the house had the wooer gone
When [illegible] entered—the gloaming set in
And sad was the look that the youth put on,
As joyful and gay was the maiden's smile,
Pray what is the sad that troubles you here?
And why at your mother's knee talk so free?
May I ask your mother dear Mary, too?
No Harry she whispered—you must ask me.
I'd better go in your mother to see?
No Harry no—me you must accost and ask me.

There was waiting one morn at the village church,
Waiting and weeping, and words of woe—
For the sad old wooer was left in the lurch
The maid had gone off with a younger beau
Wrathy the son on the hedge glowed
Wrathy at above on the other in gale
And what was the laughter upon the crowd
As Harry rode off with his wedded [illegible]
Ha, Ha! he cried—Ha! ha! laughed she—
They may want a long while ere the bride they see

The Angels of Grief

BY WHITTIER

With silence only as their benediction
God's angels come
Where in the shadow of a great affliction
The soul sits dumb

Yet would we say what every heart approveth,
Our Father's will!
Calling to him the dear ones whom he loveth,
Is mercy still

Not upon us or ours the solemn angel
Hath evil wrought
The funeral anthem is a glad evangel,
The good die not!

God calls our loved ones but we lose not wholly
What he has given
They live on earth in thought and deed as truly
As in His heaven

In washing stairs and passages always use a sponge instead of a cloth when washing the space between the carpet and wall, and you will not hurt the edges. Sponge is cheap and this information is cheap but is valuable to all housekeepers.

Labor is the great article of expense upon a farm in America, yet it is not nearly so great as in England—in proportion to the amount of the produce of a farm, especially if the poors rates be included.

A letter from a Mormon says—"My two wives and Miss ——, are well. The little children are well and growing finely. The two young colts—a boy and a girl—were born last July, 11 days apart."

A writer in the Cultivator says he put a quantity of pumpkin seed to cook in the Cauldron Kettle with sweet apples and potatoes, and he fed and fattened up his swine with meal perfectly fit for pork but he feels badly ashore, and the result was the death of 30 or 40 ducks turkeys and chickens. They have died also from eating the seed where left uncooked.

It is well known that Thomas Scott the celebrated commentator on the Bible published an edition of Burgan's Pilgrim's Progress, with explanatory notes. A copy of this work he loaned kindly presented to one of his poor parishioners—Meeting him soon after, Mr Scott inquired whether he had read it. The reply was "Yes sir." "Do you think you understood it?" "O yes, sir, was the answer, with a somewhat unexpected familiarity, I hope I shall understand the next time I read it."

The Cold Water Fanatic.

BY T S ARTHUR.

"Come, Parker," said a young man named Franklin, "there's to be a temperance meeting over at Marion Hall. Don't you want to hear the speaking?"

"No, I believe not," was answered indifferently. "I have little faith in such things."

"Sturgess is in town, and I am told, will make an address."

"I heard him once, and that was enough for me," replied Parker. "He's a cold water fanatic."

This was said in a group of half a dozen men most of whom were strangers to Parker. Some of these looked at each other with knowing glances. Here a separation took place and the different parties moved away.

"I think you had better go with me," said Parker's friend, who still kept in his company. "If Sturgess is a little enthusiastic in the cause, he is yet a very interesting speaker—Perhaps he may say something that will set even you to thinking."

"I'm not a drunkard," returned Parker.

"No; still, you are not beyond the reach of danger. No man is, who daily gratifies a desire for a glass of brandy."

"Don't you think I could do without it?"

"Certainly, you could, do without it now."

"Why do you say now so emphatically?"

"Now means at the present time."

"Well?"

"I cannot speak for the future. You are not ignorant of the power of habit."

"Upon my word! you are complimentary. Then you really think me in danger of becoming a drunkard?"

"Every man, who takes a daily glass of brandy, is in that danger."

"You really think so?"

"Most assuredly! How are drunkards made? You know the process as well as I do. Every mighty river has its beginning in a scarcely noticed stream. Ask the most besotted inebriate for the history of his fall, and you will find a part of that history running parallel with your own at the present time."

"You are serious, as I live," said Parker, forcing a smile.

"It is hardly a matter of jest. But, come! Go with me to hear this cold water fanatic, as you call him. You have no other engagement for the evening. Now, that your thoughts have been turned upon the subject, of a dailyglass of brandy, it may be as well for you to hear something further as to the consequences of such a habit. A wise man "forewarned, forearmed, had passed through a perilous life" this,

"But the fool,—why don't you finish the quotation Franklin?"

"I beg your pardon, I was not aware that I had left it unfinished. The fool, as Solomon says, rushes in where angels fear to tread."

"I will go. I am in earnest about the matter."

And so Parker and many others, all of which he found crowded. A person with a warm temperament, he made a move to the platform upon which he found the president and secretaries of the temperance society in the act of [illegible] with two or three others who were to act as speakers. One of these latter was a man past the prime of life. His hair was thin and gray and his face lean and withered; but his dark restless eye showed that within was a mind of vigor and quick feelings. His was to express the introductory ideas before referred to. After the usual preliminaries, necessary on such occasions he arose to address the meeting. For some time he stood with his eyes moving through the audience. All was hushed to profound silence and there was a breathless expectation throughout the room. The speaker's usual style was impulsive. He was more given to declamation than argument, generally speaking to hearers with him by the force of strong enthusiasm.

My friends, he at length said, in a low, subdued, yet thrilling, distinct voice. His manner to those who had before listened to him was so different from what was expected, that they felt a double interest in the speaker, and bent forward, eager to catch every word.

My friends, he repeated "a little over half an hour ago an incident occurred which has so checked the current of my thoughts and feelings, that I find myself in a state better fitted for the seclusion of my chamber than for public speaking. It is a weakness I know, but even the best of us are not at all times able to rise above our weakness. I was conversing with a friend in the midst of a group of men, some of whom were unknown to me, when one of the latter proposed to an acquaintance whom he called by name an attendance upon the meeting. I heard only for such things was answered—"Sturgess is to speak" was addressed as an argument. "He's a cold water fanatic," said the acquaintance, with a sneer.

There was little most perfect silence throughout the room. All eyes were fixed upon Sturgess, whose low, subdued tone of voice so unusual for him made a marked impression on the audience. He stood for some moments, again silent, his eye searching every where.

If he resumed to the one low, half sad, impressive voice that so many men were here to night. I would fain do as well as a principle to tell him why I have become what he calls a cold water fanatic—why I let forth my whole soul pour in the cause—why I am at times over enthusiastic—why I am probably, a little intemperate in my crusade against the monster vice that has desolated our homes and robbed us of the sweet prom se God once gave us in our children.

The speaker's voice had trembled, but now it was lost in a sob. In a moment he recovered himself and went on, still in the same low, searching tones.

"In the sweet promise of our children—Where are they? I look all around this large audience. There sits an old friend and there, and there. Like mine their heads are blossoming for eternity. Long years ago, we started side by side on the journey of life. We had our wives and our little ones around us then. Where are they now.

Another long pause and deep silence followed. The dropping of a pin could have been heard in that crowded assembly.

"When my thoughts go wandering back to that old time, restrained the speaker, and I see, in imagination, the bright hearth fire now extinguished, and hear, in imagination, the glad voices of children now hushed for ever—and when I think of what caused this sad change I do not wonder that I have been all on fire, as it were that I have appeared to some a mere cold water fanatic.

"I wish that young man were here to night, and perhaps he is here. I will, at any rate, take his presence for granted, and make briefly my address to him.

"You have called me, my young friend, a cold water fanatic. If you had said enthusiast I would have liked the term better. But no matter—a name let it be. And what has made me so? I will draw for you a picture.

"There's a small, meagerly furnished room, in the third story of an old building. The time is winter, and on the hearth burn a few pieces of pine wood, that afford but little warmth. Three persons are in that room—a mother and her two children. The mother is still young, but her dark and suffering face tells a story of poverty, sickness, and that heart sorrow which dries up the very fountains of life. A few years previously she had gone forth from her father's house a happy bride, looking down the future and seeing nought but fair and sunshine. She clung to her husband as confiding as the vine clings to the oak, and she loved him with all the fervor and devotion of a pure young heart. Alas! that no shadow so soon fell upon her path that love's clinging tendrils were torn away!

"She is still young. Look upon her as she moves with feeble step about her room. Ah! into what a depth of misery she has fallen! Where is her husband—he who so solemnly swore to love cherish and keep her in sickness and in health? The door has opened! He enters,—gaze upon him! No wonder an expression of pain and disgust is on your countenance, for a miserable drunkard is before you. No wonder the poor wife's pale cheek grows paler, nor that the sadness of her face changes into a look of anguish. Hark! He has greeted her with an angry word. He staggers across the room, and, in doing so, throws over that little toddling thing on her way to meet him. The mother, with an exclamation, springs forward to save her child from harm. See! The drunken wretch has thrust her angrily aside with his strong arm, and she has fallen—fallen with her head across a chair!

"The fall my friends, proved fatal. A week after that unhappy day, I stood by the grave of one, who had been to me the best and most loving of children!"

The speaker's voice faltered. But he recovered himself, and, went on—"A few years before, I gave my child, dear to me as the apple of an eye, into the keeping of one I believed to be kind, noble hearted and faithful. He was so then—yes, I will still say that.—But the demon of Intemperance threw upon him her baleful glances, and he became changed. And such a change! The scene I have pictured took place in a far-off city, whither my child had been taken. Alas! the poor child did not die in my own arms. I was summoned too late. Only the sad pleasure of gazing upon her wasted cheeks, white as marble, and as cold, remained to me."

The old man could no longer suppress his emotions. Tears gushed over his face, and he wept aloud. Few dry eyes were in that assemblage.

"Is it any wonder," resumed Sturgess, after he had again recovered the mastery of his feelings, "that I am a cold water fanatic? Methinks, if the young man to whom I have referred, had passed through a scene like this,

Melancholy Occurrence.

Monday evening last two young men who were gun ng upon Jamaica Point at the mouth of Dorchester harbor discovered the body of a man lying in the edge the surf upon the shore of the point, and nodded at small boat, broked nearly in two but so framed a rither out Search being made, the body of a man was found at the place in the line described to the bottom of the boat, and a variety of articles of provisions household use, &c., together with a knitting work of the man, were scattered at and about the place From papers on him the body of the man and e inquiries which were made, it was ascertained that the bodies were those of and his wife, both of whom had been for many years residents of Dorchester, who had resided for many years upon a little island called Lamelett s Island it being a portion of the island of Dorchester This island consists of about two hundred acres they had occupied alone a dwelling it by position a sporting domicile s by fishing &c and the object was to the best of accompanying for just and in- ials on occasions. On the 30th of last ult they came to gether to the town of Camden for the purpose of purchasing some little articles in preparation for the New Year and starting homewards on the first of the New Year at land leaving unknown to a family of children to a ttle return n the afternoon of the 31st they started to return, not ng before dark and as there was quite a strong head id with some sea it is probably they found themselves unable to make the passage and on getting into the a boy Keeping to the near the point their little vessel uck upon a rock just covered by the water and immedi- ately filled, giving them just time enough to throw out n anchor, before they themselves were at the mercy of waves.

he darkness, and uncertainty of their situation, and the hilled by exposure to the cold, they were unable to their way to the shore, though the distance was and the water not deep. The bodies have been ed in a tomb by the Selectmen of this town, where will await the action of their friends in Lisbon;— also understand a vessel has been sent from an to relieve the children of this unfortunate couple who have passed many dreary and anxious hours waiting ng delayed return of their parents.

POPULATION OF AMERICA AND GREAT BRITAIN COMPARED In the recent census report there is a comparison the growth and population in the United States, with t of Great, Britain. Here for the last sixty years, the ncrease has been about three and a half per cent. per an- um for the whole period. In the mother country, no e- mmeration of the population of Ireland was made until 1851, and that was very imperfect, and the five census of reat Britain was made in 1801, when it had only ten illions and a half. Now the population of Great Britain England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, and the Islands, in- uding persons in the army, navy, and the merchant ser- ice—amounts to 27,619,000, of whom 20,887,652 were ngland, and 14,082,814 were females. The population of reland from 1821 to 1841 increased at the rate of 1 per ent. per annum; while for the ten years from 1841 to 1851 the decrease was 1,659,236—a diminution of 9 per cent. or 20 per cent. for the entire ten years. The entire population of Great Britain and Ireland has increased in ten years about half a million—but leaving out Ireland it has increased 1,918,718 per cent. per annum.—In the mean time the United States have gone from 17,000,000 to 23,000,000—or 36 per cent.

Communication from a Writing Medium.

We give below a communication written by a lady in this city, who assures us that it was written while her mind was entirely unconscious what her hand was tracing upon the slate The lady, we may say, is well known to us, and is above all reproach, and worthy, in all things else, at least, the most entire confidence, as a discreet, pious woman who has for many years maintained a consistent christian character as a member of an evangelical church

We do not commit ourselves in any manner to the doctrine of spiritual communications with mortals; we have not satisfied our own mind upon that subject, but as a matter of curiosity, at least as a matter in which many are interested, and one which from its pretensions and progress demands an investigation, we give this article as a specimen of the communications that are daily written in this city We have had very little opportunity to examine this subject, and none to give it an investigation, and hence we ask no one to go any farther than a critical examination of the following:—

I come this evening by particular request to affirm that I thought, which was suggested for your consideration by the Angel Mary You heard that the beloved spirit Fanny passed up to the fourth sphere in rapid succession, being fitted for that abode by great tribulation, which was given as a distinguished blessing while her soul tabernacled in the flesh that it might be purified in the furnace of affliction and made meet for the high abode of the Saints in light You hear the sweet Spirit then intimate that the souls of God would come forth like gold seven times purified, which was an appropriation to those spheres The soul you have learned is governed by the law of progress, and its course is onward and upward Now you must know that true charity admits of but the reformation of sinners, and will answer the end for which they are sent when rightly improved. This spirit was made thus perfect through sanctified suffering And now let me digress from the subject before you to discourse of the use of Spheres I wish you to understand that the Seven Spheres are for the purification of the soul, and the term seven has an important signification in the inspired word Read then this book with renewed interest and become humble seekers for spiritual truth, and it will open before the eye of the mind hidden beauties which surpass all other volumes which have ever been written. I wish you to know one thing of great importance and rightly understand your position, my friend, that your spirit may rise in proportion as you imbibe the pure draughts of spiritual knowledge, and so you may receive demonstrations of pure unadulterated truth which flows in all its purity through those mediums whose souls are like watered gardens, while they partake of the waters of life which flow from that river pure as crystal, emanating from the throne of God I will now state one thing which you will know is truth as coming from my ministration the word of the everlasting God is sure and this is the test—bring all these communications to this and try them by its given balances, and if they can be weighed by these scales, know that they are of immense value— My testimony concurs with the spirits of wisdom teaching, and by them you have received an exposition of what is truth I can neither add nor diminish its beautiful superstructure—it was the stone cut out of the mountain, and it is destined to fill the whole earth This is only the beginning of the triumph of immortal mind whose march is onward You may expect that the mysteries which have been hidden in slumbering ages are to be brought to light, and man will discover the intricate laws by which the inner man is governed as well as the laws of his physical nature—the result of this investigation will lead him into the range of thought which will explore the interminable destination of the immortal soul and he will read his future designation by the light of science, which will develope the hidden mysteries of the spirit home I have only commenced what I designed to say at this time My mission now is fulfilled, and I go to instruct others

I am from the sixth sphere

WM ELLERY CHANNING

☞ Dr H.K. Root A M M D, from New York, author of the "People's Medical Lighthouse," is now in Portland and it is expected that he will pay Bangor a visit next week His theory is, that all diseases have their origin from an impure state of the blood, and upon this theory he has established a new system of practice, which differs materially from that of the Allopathic school inasmuch as he entirely discards the use of mineral medicines He holds that wounds inflicted upon the lungs, or, what is more common, ulcers which affect the respiratory organs, will as readily heal in the blood upon a healthy condition, as a cut or blister upon the surface of the skin, and that a permanent cure can never be effected until the fluids of the body are cleansed.—Not having devoted our attention to the study of the Esculapian art, we are not prepared to judge how far he is correct, but we may safely say that his theory is decidedly plausible, and so long as he is a successful Physician, it matters little, what particular theory he holds, or what course of treatment he pursues, provided he does not drug the system with mercurial poisons!

Many of the New York and Boston papers, speak highly of his, medical attainments and pronounce him the physician of the age His new work the "People's Medical Lighthouse," receives the highest encomiums from the press, and we have seen one very strong recommendation of its merits from the pen of a Boston clergyman Should the Doctor honor us with a visit, he will undoubtedly meet with a cordial reception from all liberal citizens.

Oldtown Whig Lyceum.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

OLDTOWN, Jan 10, 1853.

We are enjoying a rich treat in the way of Lectures before the Oldtown Village Lyceum Thus far we have had two The first by Prof. Hitchcock of Brunswick, was on the different races of Man As to the origin of these races the lecturer took the common view, that is that they have all descended from a single pair, and described it in a masterly manner

Though differing from Professor Agassiz on this point, he paid that distinguished scholar one of the most beautiful compliments to web ever heard, clearly proving that one race differs widely from another without losing the power of appreciating his scholarship his talents or his moral worth While the lecture evinced an ardent love for science it was very far from exalting its teachings above the spirit of revelation The Bible was given to teach a truth no other natural science can; yet there is no antagonism between the two On the contrary it is under evidence of the Divine authority of the Mosaic record that though it was written in the infancy of the world, yet its truths are corroborated in the clearest manner by the deductions of physical science

The second lecture was by Rev. Mr. Webb of Augusta, on the Gouda ana ofta nowe, or the laws on which the highest success in life depends It was listened to with the most profound attention, and left us only to regret that every young man in the community could not have heard it—The style of the performance, was such as the severest critic could hardly with fairness find fault replies with rich thought classic flowing ornate without being loaded to decrepitude with ornament it struck us as a fair example of a style at which every writer should aim, a style in which the words are mere transparencies, and in which thought alone stands out in a blaze of light.

We can but hope it will be often repeated The next lecture is to be on Friday evening of this week, by Rev Mr Neale of Boston

LEGISLATURE OF MAINE.

AUGUSTA, Jan 11

In the Senate Mr Clark reported on Senatorial votes An order informing the House of the vacancies found to exist, and proposing a convention at 12 o clock to-day to fill the same was adopted

A communication was received from the House, signifying its concurrence in the order of the Senate for a convention to fill vacancies

Mr Wheeler offered an order that the Senate hold one session a day, commencing at 10 o clock, until further ordered Adopted

House—Mr Gary of Aroostook, announced the names of the democratic candidates. He had noticed a variety of lists in circulation, and that the whigs were offering to trade off some of their men for some of the democrats He thought that would be a losing speculation.

Mr Smith of Calais hoped no whig would make any trade for anything whatever

On motion of Mr Titcomb of Kennebunk, the committee were directed to take their stand in front of the clerk's desk, and the names of members to be called and checked as they deposit their ballots

Mr Chapman of Damariscotta moved that a committee of 7 be appointed to receive the votes for three Senators for the 6th Senatorial district which was agreed to

Mr Farewell of Lincoln moved to reconsider the vote, and urged that the proposed course of proceeding would introduce confusion, and the ballot could not be completed with the committee out.

Mr Chapman only desired to facilitate business, and the course proposed was not an unusual one

Mr Fessenden of Portland contended that the course proposed would be inconsistent with the manner of voting adopted this morning. The members of the committee now out, cannot be here to vote when their names are called. The convention has voted to fill the vacancies in the second district, and it will be improper to take up other business till that is disposed of.—There may be no choice on the first ballot.

Mr Chase of Washington concurred in the propriety of reconsideration. He was opposed to entangling the proceedings of the convention in Gentlemen desire to see the result of one balloting before going into another Mr Cl participated in his wish

On motion of Mr Sewall of Oldtown the motion to reconsider was laid on the table

On motion of Mr Chase of Washington, at all of the convention was ordered, and 168 members were found to be present, and seven out on the committee make the number 173 The only member absent who Mr Campbell of New Gloucester, who has not yet taken his seat.

The committee came in and reported as follows:

|---|---|
| Whole number of votes, | 173 |
| Necessary to a choice, | 87 |
| James Mann has | 143 |
| John E Dunnells, | 142 |
| Warren H. Vinton, | 90 |
| Wm. Idwell, | 88 |
| Jacob Hazon, | 84 |
| James Strout, Jr | 33 |
| Nathaniel L. Ingersoll, | 20 |
| S O Blanchard, | 21 |
| Sylvanus Blanchard, | 1 |
| N H Ingersoll, | 1 |

And Messrs Mann, Dunnells, Vinton and Lowell were declared elected

Mr Sewall of Oldtown moved that the convention adjourn till to-morrow morning at ten o clock Negatived, 62 to 89

Mr Titcomb moved that the convention adjourn till three o'clock this afternoon. Agreed to, by a large majority.

AFTERNOON

Mr Sewall of Oldtown moved to take up the motion to reconsider the vote to take a comp ete to receive the votes for Senators in the 5th Senatorial District, and it was taken up and negatived.

Messrs Farewell of Lincoln and Holman of Oxford, of the Senate, Chapman of Damariscotta, Sprout of Frankfort, Johnson of Belfast, Newbegin of Milford, and North of Augusta, were appointed a committee.

Mr Gary announced the names of the regular democratic candidates It appeared that many democrats had been deceived this morning; and he made the announcements to prevent a similar result this afternoon.

Nelson Dingley, John T. Rowe, David Vinal and John Bridges were elected.

The Convention, organized and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan 11.

IN THE SENATE.

Mr Sumner presented a memorial of steamboat owners of Boston, asking compensation for services rendered during storms, in that harbor last year.

Mr Mallory presented a memorial from a Mr Thompson, asking a contract for a line of mail steamers between San Francisco and China.

Mr Broadhead presented a memorial praying for the abolition of the tax on seamen's wages, known as hospital money.

The House bill, ceding to Ohio the unfinished portion of the Cumberland road lying in that State, was passed.

Mr Dodge presented the credentials of Mr. Jones, as Senator from Ohio, for six years from March next.

Mr Norris presented the credentials of Chas G Atherton, as Senator from New Hampshire for six years

Mr Davis submitted a resolution calling on the President for such information as he possesses in regard to the execution of the Postal Convention between the United States and Great Britain, stating whether the postal matter is forwarded by Great Britain in conformity with the provision of the said Convention Adopted

The joint resolution authorizing the Post-Master-General to contract for two ice boats on the Potomac, to keep up the mail communication was passed

The bill to repeal the act concerning tonnage duties on Spanish vessels was made a special order for this day two weeks

Mr Cass said that with a view to enable full information concerning the subject debated yesterday, to go forth to the country, he moved that the Senate go into executive session to remove the injunction of secrecy on the treaty Agreed to

During the executive session the injunction of secrecy was removed from the proceedings on the Nicaragua treaty Yeas 31 nays 25

At 3 o'clock the doors were re opened and the Senate adjourned

IN THE HOUSE

Mr Germain, from the Committee on Printing reported back the resolution referred to him to print 100 000 extra copies of the census report Adopted.

The House then resumed the consideration of the bill from the Select Committee to investigate Secretary Corwin's connection with the Gardiner claim

Mr Stanton of Ohio spoke in defence of Mr Corwin, and was followed by Mr Chapman, who said that a practice prevailed among Members of Congress of receiving compensation, certain or contingent, as agents for the prosecution of important claims against the government and it is the duty of Congress to remedy the evil In presenting this bill, the Committee had undoubtedly departed from their original instructions, but no fault should be found with them for so doing, inasmuch as the evil against which the bill attempts to guard, exists and inasmuch as there ought to be a remedy.

Nothing, however, was intended from the report relating to the opinion of the committee inconsistent with the finding, so far as relates to Secretary Corwin Mr C then addressed himself to the report of the committee, and replied at length to the strictures of the gentleman from Ohio (Mr Olds) It was due to Mr Gardner to assert, that the investigation of the validity of his claim was ex parte and from this he concurred with his colleague, that so far as that testimony was concerned the claim was naked fraud, subduced by perjury and false paper He then proceeded to review and defend Mr Corwin whom he contended had done nothing blameable

Mr Burre, (Dem, from Corwin's Congressional district in Ohio) followed in defence of Secretary Corwin referring to the high position of that gentleman morally intellectually and politically, and endorsing his private character as pure and spotless, and insisting that the report of the Committee had presented no evidence to substantiate the charges against him

The House, without taking action on the subject before it, went into Committee on the bill to suppress small currency in the District The bill was discussed by Messrs Carter, Averett, Bowie, Jones of Tennessee, and others, when the Committee rose without concluding the subject and the House adjourned

I caution the public against buying an article called Improved Warpene of the week. IT IS AN ERRONEOUS IDEA that disease cannot be cured except by taking large quantities of medicine into the stomach in a great many cases of which much injury is done although that order must be at all times cured The cause of the disease is to stimulate the absorbents and restore the natural action of the digestive organs, nervousness chills, alternate diarrhœa and costiveness, flatulence, nightmare etc etc. Would it not, therefore be very desirable to possess a remedy which being applied externally would operate by absorbents on the nerves which it does carry off through this medium the disease in principle which is the correct cure of the disease? Surely every thinking man will admit that this would not only be the most pleasant but by far the safest means to effect the desired end The almost superior manner in which performed by the Indian doctress of the Penobscot tribe of Indians, well known as the celebrated INDIAN SPINEL The compound are extracted from rare plants possessing Arabian This great liniment (which is now to be had of most respectable druggists and merchants in every town in the United States), is daily effecting cures which seemed beyond the power of medicine to control—Consumption, bronchitis and every complaint that originates from disturbance, nervous affections indigestion enlargement of the spleen scrofulous tumors goitre etc etc, are most easily cured and always relieved by its use It is pleasant to use as an anodyne—relieving severe pains in a few minutes after its application soothes the irritated nerves and produces a delightful tranquility so grateful to the nervous invalid Sprains, bruises, wounds, burns, scalds, chilblains, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc etc. are speedily cured by it, and for friendly all skin ants to insect cattle, requiring an external application, it is an effectual remedy

LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS

The public are cautioned against another counterfeit, which has lately made its appearance, called W B Farrell's Arabian Liniment, the most dangerous of all the counterfeits because in buying the name of Farrell many will buy it in good faith, without the knowledge that a counterfeit exists, and they will perhaps only discover their error when the spurious mixture has wrought its evil effects.

The genuine article is manufactured only by H G Farrell & Co, sole inventors and proprietor, and wholesale druggists, No 17 Main Street, Peoria, Illinois, to whom all applications for Agencies must be addressed. Be sure you get it with the letters H. G. before Farrell's due—H G FARRELL'S—and his signature on the wrappers all others are counterfeits.

Sold by INGRAHAM & FULLER, wholesale and retail, Bangor Also by R F Kinsell Oldtown French & Hamilton, Dexter Geo Fletcher, Ellsworth, P O Hayes, Boulton, and Agents regularly authorized agents throughout the United States.

☞ Price 25 and 50 cents and $1 per bottle.

The Mustang Liniment

POSSESSES the properties of penetrating and permeating all organic or animal substances and also of dissolving them when their vitality is destroyed opens the capillary tubes, softens the tendons and ligaments, stimulates the absorbents and reproduces healthy action, reduces swelling, discusses tumors and heals ulcers cancers, or scrofulous sores and wounds In chronic rheumatism it is almost a specific The success of over four millions of bottles and the testimony of tens of thousands of persons who have been cured by it, are sufficient evidences of the truth of the great value of this preparation Every person therefore should give this liniment a trial but in pronouncing judgment upon it This is all that is asked Try it! try all!

☞Ladies and gentlemen are respectfully invited to call. Patients visited at their residence.

Consultations Free.

The superiority of Dr. Clay's system of practice over all, and every other system, in the treatment of diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Spleen, Nervous System, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, Piles, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Spinal Diseases, Diseases of the Skin, Prolapsus Uteri, Fluor Albus, and all that formidable list of diversified suffering which comes under the general head of ### Female Weaknesses.

warrants him in soliciting for treatment, cases that have been pronounced incurable by other physicians

☞Dr. Clay's medicines are purely vegetable. He uses no mercury, or other poisons, in any case whatever, so they injure the fine coats of the secreting membranes of the viscera, and unfit them for fulfilling the functions necessary to keep up a just balance of action.

The extensive acquaintance of Dr Clay with Anatomy, Physiology, and Pathology, enables him to determine the nature, extent and precise location of disease, describe the symptoms of the patient, tell the length they have been, how they are and how they will be with facility that will inspire the most incredulous with confidence, wonder, and admiration.

Consumption can be cured.

The consumptive reader is respectfully invited to call and hear Dr Clay's opinion respecting the curability of Pulmonary Consumption. His method of treating diseases of the Lungs is peculiar to himself, and very similar to that adopted by Theophilus Thompson M D F R S, Physician to the Hospital for Consumption and diseases of the Chest in England. Early attention is safety, delay is peril

At 62 1-2 cts. per Bushel, or Gallon.

New Oyster House.

This day received a cargo of Oysters.

THE subscribers having taken the building on FEDERAL STREET, east of the Elm House, would inform the public that they intend to carry on the OYSTER BUSINESS in all its branches. Having engaged a line of Clipper Schooners, with experienced masters, we purchase our Oysters at the best beds in Virginia and Maryland; by so doing we can sell as low as any Oyster establishment in New England

☞Dealers in Oysters in the cities and towns east of Portland, who have before purchased in Boston, will find it to their advantage to be supplied from Portland, for we are ready to supply Oysters in any quantity, at the shortest notice.

Australian Packet Line.

Yacht EXCURSION to Australia.

The "A 1" Clipper Yacht "PEYTONA," 600 tons will succeed the Albus, as second Ship of this line, and sail from New York on the [illegible]th of January.

THIS beautiful specimen of Marine architecture was built by the world renowned M'Kay, of Boston, for a racer and like her namesake, the famous racehorse she has never been beaten Mr. M'Kay was the builder of the Flying Fish, Flying Cloud, Staffordshire Sovereign of the Seas, and other Clippers in Mr John Ogden's Line to California, and the Peytona stands preeminent among the proudest monuments of his skill She will be fitted up in a style as elegant as unique, and fresh provisions will be furnished for at least one half of the voyage It is confidently expected that she will land her passengers at Melbourne in the Sixty first day from New York, including stoppages.

No such opportunity as this has yet been offered to gentlemen desirous of visiting that enchanting region, and, as none but passengers' freight will be taken, those disposed making a little venture to cover expenses, may do so

It is not fair to compare this ship with the ordinary class of vessels hitherto fitted out and now advertised for Australia, as the Peytona is above competition from any quarter

She will take an experienced Surgeon, and all the attention of a first class hotel will be provided in the most liberal manner

A drawing of the ship and plan of births, will be exhibited, and rates of passage and other particulars made known, by applying to the Australian Packet Line

AMERICAN ANODYNE LINIMENT.

For Internal and External Use.

THIS wonderful Medicine, notwithstanding it has never had the advantage of newspaper publicity, has yet acquired a higher and more extended popularity than any other similar compound in the world. It is entirely of vegetable extract, in perfectly safe to be administered even to the most delicate child and is the astonishing and satisfactory in its effects upon man or beast. To those unacquainted with the invaluable medicine we simply say, try it at a fair trial, and we promise you a radical cure of Coughs Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis Whooping Cough, Influenza, Spitting of Blood, and all Lung Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, and Dysentery in all of which cases it should be used internally. The effects of its external application in cases of Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases Sprains, Chapped Hands, Bruises Burns and all descriptions of wounds are magical. Persons troubled with Cramp in the Stomach, Sides or Bowels also Heart Pains &c, by a few drops internal and external application of the Anodyne, cannot fail of a certain and speedy cure. The proprietor can and does give dozens of testimonials in its favor but forbears to let it carry its own recommendations as it has done for forty years past. We ask no more than a fair trial after an unsatisfactory trial. In its composition it unites several of the most penetrating and healing specifics known to the inventors of medicine, and however of this article was in the constant and successful practice of medicine for more than twenty years

This is to certify that having been troubled for a number of years with a distressing cough and bleeding at the lungs, the same, on being induced to make use of Dr Johnson's American Anodyne Liniment, I was soon relieved of the distressing symptoms. My lungs are now filled so that I was able to attend to my business. After one bottle was entirely cured, and I have since been able to labor every day. I have suffered for the last twenty years from Asthma severe attacks of which every year left me in a worse condition than before. I have found your Anodyne Liniment to be the only permanent relief until I took your Liniment, since which I have had no return of the complaint. I recommend it to all who are afflicted with Asthma

Brewer Sept 29 1852 JOHN FALKINS

The following from Rev Sir—In consequence of having a severe attack of rheumatism, it became entirely stiff at the knee and I was induced by the persuasion of a friend to make use of Dr Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, which I had only used a short time before I found myself entirely relieved from the disease, and by using three bottles my leg was restored to its former straightness and I found myself entirely cured. I would recommend it to all who are afflicted with rheumatism as I have been, and I consider it a duty I owe to my fellow men to make known the blessing of Providence for the use of which I am entirely indebted to the use of Dr Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, which I can with confidence recommend
